Making Schmidt Cassegrain Telescope Optics

cassegrain telescopes for amateurs - cassegrain telescopes for amateurs by: jeffrey d. beish (revised: 26 september 2014) introduction in the late 1970's several of the local amateur telescope makers (atm) in miami, florida got together and began making telescopes. up until then a 6-inch reflector or refractor was considered a fairly large telescope, but to own a 12.5" optical tube assembly - amazon s3 - the schmidt-cassegrain optical system (or schmidt-cass for short) uses a combination of mirrors and lenses and is referred to as a compound or catadioptric telescope. this unique design offers large-diameter optics while maintaining very short tube lengths, making them extremely portable. the schmidt-cassegrain system consists of a zero power ... star testing your telescope - backyard astronomer's guide - telescope such as a 4-inch refractor produces a bright airy disk surrounded by a faint inner diffraction ring when in focus on a bright star. out of focus, the im-ages expand to filled-in diffraction disks that look identical both inside and outside of focus. schmidt-cassegrain with its larger aperture an 8-inch sct produces an visual observing what to know - sky & telescope - visual observing: what to know before you buy skywatch 2010 • 25 planets when the seeing allows. and though a galaxy may not look great through a big scope from a suburb, it looks better than uncle rod's used at uyer's guide - brainiac - uncle rod's used cat buyer's guide 7 celestron orange tube c8 he original c8, the renowned ^orange tube _ (celestron never referred to it as anything but a 8) , is the telescope that made the schmidt cassegrain available, practical, and relatively affordable. celestron sold this initial mass production model for 13 years, from celestron has redesigned and improved two classic ... - the telescope is not in use. telescope review celestron has redesigned and improved two classic telescopes, making them nearly irresistible. /// by phil harrington the first go-to telescopes ... optical system design s15 reflector telescopes - optical system design - s15 reflector telescopes joseph a. shaw - montana state university reflector telescope design + mirrors have no chromatic aberration (same telescope useful in uv-vis-ir) ... schmidt-cassegrain spherical primary and secondary plus aspheric corrector plate front back cover 2 - amazon simple storage service - for schmidt-cassegrain telescopes. • first and currently the only commercial telescope manufacturer to offer true hand-figured and matched optics in schmidt-cassegrain telescopes. • first to offer a commercially available 8" fork mounted schmidt-cassegrain for under $1,000 with the introduction of the celestar. telescope basics - celestronmexico - a telescope is an instrument that collects and focuses light. the nature of the optical design determines how the light is focused. some telescopes (known as refractors) use lenses and other telescopes, known as reflectors (newtonians), use mirrors. then, the schmidt-cassegrain and maksutov telescopes use both mirrors and lenses. optical telescopes - princeton university - outline • telescope overview • two-mirror reflecting telescopes - cassegrain - gregorian - ritchey-chretien • auxiliary optics & correctors • catadioptric telescopes/cameras - classical schmidt - schmidt-cassegrain • examples: subaru, keck, apo 2/22
